FLANK

Of Russian Defense in Romania Is Weakened by Capture of Braila

TEUTONS MOVE ON GALATZ

Sereth Line Is Threatened At This Point and West of the Buzeu River—Moldavia Would be Imperiled By Break at Any of These Sections.

Events on the European battlefields are summarized from reports from capitals to the Associated Press as follows:

With the capture of Braila by Field Marshal von Mackensen, his advance of Galatz, 12 miles north, the clearing of Dobruja of Russians and further Teutonic successes in Moldavia have brought the Rumanian campaign to a new phase. The Braila bridgehead, while not itself an integral part of the Sereth line now held by the Russians, running northward from the Danube toward the Moldavian frontier mountains, formed an outlying defense of that line in the Danube end and its capture weakens the eastern flank of the Sereth position.

Galatz, likewise on the Danube, lies just behind the Sereth line and that town now is menaced by a German-Bulgarian movement across the Danube from it in Dobruja, made possible by the Russian evacuation of the province.

It is not only here, however, that the Sereth line is threatened, for despite a tenacious defense by the Russians and Rumanians, the line northward beyond the Buzeu river is not holding well against the Teutonic pressure, while the efforts to keep the Teutons in check in the Moldavian frontier valleys is apparently proven still less successful.

A break in this line in southern front would imperil the Moldavian frontier position, while the piercing of the frontier line itself, not an apparent improbability, would endanger the entire running southwestward to the Danube.

In these circumstances, commentators in entente capitals are considering the possibility of the Russians being compelled to abandon the line of the Sereth and withdraw to the Russian frontier or beyond it, to Bessarabia.

The French, British and Italian premiers and important military subordinates in several entente ministries are holding a war council in Rome for consideration of the general situation.

Emperor William is quoted as declaring in an order issued to the army and navy that as Germany's offer of peace negotiations had been refused the war would be continued with a view to an understanding forced by arms.

Today's German official statement removed any doubt that might have existed that Field Marshal von Mackensen's offensive against the Russians was to be pushed further. The statement specifically declares the new operations planned are already in the carrying out process, with Galatz, which already has been put under the fire of the Teutonic guns as the immediate objective.

LILY BULBS ARE MISTAKEN FOR FOOD; BOY LIVES

ALBERT KINNEY, 12, son of Mrs. Anna Kinney of 200 Wilson street was unconscious for several hours this morning after he had eaten a poisonous root while playing along the creek bank near the aqueduct. A number of boys have been hunting along the banks of the stream for what they call artichokes, which are very palatable and are found in the bed of streams. Saturday morning the Kinney lad evidently got some other root believed to have been spring lily bulbs which were poisonous, for soon after reaching his home he became violently ill and lapsed into unconsciousness. His mother could not rouse him and Dr. J. W. Barker was called. Later in the afternoon he regained consciousness and is resting more comfortably now.

GOV. COX

Approves Inaugural Plans Arranged to Permit All to Participate

EXPECT 125,000 VISITORS

Chief Justice Nichols of Ohio Supreme Court Will Administer Oath of Office to New Executive—Naval Militia Will Fire Governor's Salute.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 6.—The Columbus inaugural committee today put the final touches on the arrangements for what is expected to be the most notable and impressive inauguration in the history of Ohio next Monday, when Governor-elect James M. Cox of Dayton is inducted into office for the second time in four years.

For several weeks members of this committee, headed by Lee M. Boda and composed of Republicans and Democrats alike, have been working like beavers planning every detail from the building of reviewing stands and bleachers to the selection of the latest music for dancing and the last word in engraved stationery for invitations.

The Democratic governor-elect has approved the plans and all that now remains to make it a complete success is fair weather. It is a guess of the inaugural committee that there will be at least 125,000 visitors in Columbus for the inauguration.

Political clubs, many of them uniformly outfitted in silk hats and long coats, are coming by the train load from all sections of the state. Many of them will bring bands with them.

In keeping with the expressed wish of Governor-elect Cox that every opportunity be afforded to as many people as possible to participate in the ceremonies, it has been arranged by the committee in charge to have the actual inaugural ceremonies take place on a great forum built on the west steps of the state house. Here Gov. Cox will take the oath of office at high noon Monday in sight of thousands who will crowd into the state house yard and adjacent streets. Heretofore the inaugural ceremony has always taken place inside the state house rotunda and only a comparatively few have ever witnessed the actual inauguration of a new governor.

Hugh L. Nichols, chief justice of the Ohio supreme court, will administer the oath of office to the new governor after Frank B. Willis, the retiring Republican governor, has presented him with his certificate.

Governor Cox is expected to make a brief inaugural address and Governor Willis probably will say a few words in turning over to him the office which he relieved Gov. Cox of two years ago.

The gubernatorial salute of 17 guns will be fired by a firing squad of "Jack Tars" from the Ohio Naval militia from a gun brought here for this purpose from the United States Dorothea of Toledo, immediately upon the new governor taking the oath of office. Chimes from Trinity Episcopal church, opposite the state house, will peal forth patriotic airs and a chorus of several hundred Columbus school children will sing "America."

The parade will follow immediately after the inauguration. Governor Cox will lead the parade, riding in a carriage drawn by six white horses. Other state officials will ride in automobiles. The usual general reception will be the usual general reception in the state house rotunda, where the new governor will stand in line for an hour or more shaking hands with the public.

Farmers riding in automobiles will have a prominent part in the inaugural parade. The Franklin County Farm Bureau will turn out 50 automobiles loaded with farmers. Other farm agencies over the state will be represented. Four hundred boy scouts of Columbus will serve as messengers and aides for the reception committee which has been appointed to meet all trains.

One hundred newsmen are expected to accompany the delegation from Dayton, the home of the new governor. The boys are employed by Mr. Cox's Dayton newspaper. Dayton Elks also are coming in a body to march in the parade. John G. Price, Exalted Ruler of the Columbus lodge of Elks has named a special reception committee to escort all visiting Elks from the stations to the local Elks home.

The evening festivities will begin at 7:15 o'clock with a reception in the Senate chamber in the state house, for justices of the supreme court, members of the general assembly, state officials, visiting mayors, officers of the United States army and other guests. Admission to this function will be by card. The only person in the receiving line with the governor will be his daughter, Miss Helen Cox.

Memorial Hall will be the scene of one of the most brilliant inaugural balls ever held, those in charge of arrangements say. The hall will be opened at 8:30 o'clock. The new governor is expected to arrive there at 9 o'clock immediately following the inauguration. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.)

WALL ST.

Invaded By Committee Investigating "Leak" Charges Made By Congressman

ASKS FOR TICKER TAPES

Chairman Henry Announces That Baruch and Curtis Will Appear Monday Before Committee With Other Wall Street Dealers and News Men—Wrangle at Hearing Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Subpoenas for seven men were ordered issued today by the house rules committee at the outset of today's session of the "leak" investigation.

The men to be called are John Boyle and Henry E. Eland of the Wall Street Journal, and W. A. Crawford, Ernest A. Knorr, Jr., A. L. Geiger, Nelson M. Shepard and A. M. Jamieson, employees of the Central News of America, a news service which supplies information to Financial America, a Wall Street newspaper.

The heads of the bureau also were requested to bring the ticker tapes of their services from 10 a. m. throughout the day of December 20, 1916. The committee wants to learn what time the Central News and Wall Street Journal bureaus made public the fact that a note was forthcoming from the President.

A motion by Representative Campbell, Republican, to have the New York and Chicago Stock Exchange notify all their members to preserve their sale slips on and from December 10 to December 23, was adopted.

Announcement was made by Chairman Henry that Bernard M. Baruch, who is declared by the mysterious "A. Curtis" to have profited by the so-called leak, and Otto A. Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., whom Representative Wood suggested should be called, would be here Monday to testify.

On motion of Representative Henry, Mr. Baruch was ordered to bring before the committee all of his broker's commission slips from December 10 to December 23.

Representative Clippertfield of Illinois, Republican, declared at the hearing that he understood Thomas W. Lawson of Boston had been the chief beneficiary of the falling market which followed the President's peace note.

Representative Wood, author of the inquiry resolution, has been called to the stand and a wrangle between Republican and Democratic members had been precipitated when Representative Harrison, Democrat, asked Mr. Wood why he had not satisfied himself as to the identity of the mysterious "A. Curtis."

"Representative Wood is not the author of the charges under inquiry here, protested Mr. Clippertfield, "and his motives cannot be imputed. I think that we are losing sight of the fact that these scandalous charges were made by Thomas W. Lawson of Boston and it is my understanding that Mr. Lawson was the chief beneficiary of this falling market."

Representative Harrison, Democrat, called attention to the fact that Wood's first resolution was introduced before Lawson had made any statement or before the letter from "A. Curtis," alleged New York broker, had been received.

"The question," Mr. Clippertfield insisted, "is whether there was a leak and whether government officials improperly profited by it."

"Do you think there was not a leak," asked Representative Campbell of Mr. Harrison.

"Yes," replied Mr. Harrison, "but I think the leak came from the representatives of those two Wall Street papers or else the leak came back from foreign centers."

Representative Gardner of Massachusetts who on the floor of the house on January 3 said that he knew there was a leak and that the whole stock exchange transactions showed it, was then called to the witness stand.

Representative Gardner testified he was convinced there had been a "leak" because at 2:05 p. m., Dec. 20, ten hours before the peace note was released for publication and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.)

Decision Safeguards Low Fare in Other States, Where Law Already is in Force—28 Roads Applied For Order Restraining State From Enforcing New Law.

CHICAGO, January 6.—Judges Evans, Carpenter and Landis of the United States district court today denied the petition of twenty-eight railroads operating in Illinois to restrain the Illinois state public utilities commission from enforcing the Illinois two cent fare law. The railroads contended that a ruling of the interstate commerce commission permitting a passenger rate of 2.4 cents a mile in Illinois would set aside the state law.

OHIO LAW SAFE.

COLUMBUS, January 6.—Attorney General Edward C. Turner and Joseph McGhee, attorney general-elect of Ohio today declared the decision of the United States district court at Chicago in refusing to grant the petition of the railroads to restrain the Illinois public utilities commission from enforcing the Illinois two cent law was a victory for Ohio and other states which are vitally interested. If the railroads had succeeded in their attempt to increase the two cent fare law in Illinois it would mean the breaking down of the two cent fare law in Ohio, they said. Turner and McGhee participated in the hearings before the federal court at Chicago.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., January 6.—Three masked highwaymen today held up an express messenger at Tarentum, near here, and robbed him of $10,000, the payroll of the Flaccus Glass Company. The money had been sent from here by rail, and upon its receipt at Tarentum was transferred to an automobile of the glass company though still in charge of the messenger. As the machine was passing through the residence part of the village it was sidetracked by a large touring car and stopped. Immediately a man donned a mask over his face sprang on the running board and pointing a revolver at the express messenger ordered him to hand out the money.

The alarm was given, and soon after one o'clock a report reached Pittsburgh that the robbers' automobile had been seen near Butler, Pa. A hastily armed posse immediately left here in automobiles. Meantime other armed parties had been made up at Tarentum and in neighboring villages and the belief was expressed that the robbers would soon be taken.

EAST SIDERS HEAR DEBATORS DISCUSS CITY GOVERNMENT

There was a fair attendance at the East Side meeting, held under the auspices of the Industrial and Improvement Association at Fromholtz Hall in East Main street last evening. In the absence of President D. C. Metz, unable to be present on account of illness, John McVicker presided. Clerk Ben Montgomery read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved and the chief event of the evening was announced, a debate between Wm. M. Morgan and Edward Merrick.

The question at issue was Resolved: "That the Present Form of Municipal Government is Inefficient." The affirmative was taken by Mr. Morgan and the negative by Mr. Merrick. The next meeting will be held Friday, Jan. 26, at which time a debate will take place between several of the members on "Educational Development," the entertainment committee of the association to name the debaters. There will be a third debate on Friday, Feb. 9, on "The New Form of Government." On Feb. 23 and 26 there will be a campaign for membership.

SANCTION REFUSED TO SOLICITORS WHO KEEP PART OF COIN

The Sanction Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is issuing a warning to the business public of Newark to beware of numerous solicitors for charitable, quasi-charitable and other projects for out-of-town institutions.

With the new year has come a perfect influx of such solicitors. Some of them bear apparently reliable credentials which, upon verification, do not bear the strictest scrutiny.

A representative for a benevolent institution, after two trips to Newark in which some prominent people were interested, was denied an endorsement on the ground that solicitors for that institution were allowed 25 percent on collections made. The committee regarded this percentage as exorbitant.

GOVERNMENT TO FOSTER BUSINESS OF SAVING PAPER

At the request of Dr. E. E. Pratt, Chief of the United States Department of Commerce, the Newark Chamber of Commerce is compiling a list of local firms which gather rags and paper and sell them to manufacturers. One inquiry from a man in Alexandria, this county, who has been buying paper and rags for a year and desires to sell it to an agent, has been received. Firms engaged in the collection of this material are requested to communicate with the Chamber of Commerce and their names will be filed. Persons having such material for disposal are also asked to inform the Chamber of Commerce and the names of such persons will be given to dealers engaged in this business.

Stimson where the wound was cauterized and dressed and the youngster went back and continued to play with his companions.

Following the senate reception. After welcoming the governor and his party, dancing will begin at 10 o'clock. Refreshments will be served at 11 o'clock for the dancers.

The Press smoker, one of the big events of every inauguration, will be held at the Elks home, adjoining Memorial Hall and James W. Faulkner, chairman of the committee in charge, promises this smoker will outsmoke anything of its kind ever attempted. It will begin at 10 o'clock with a "Pur" Sandles of Ottawa in charge, assisted by Earl D. Bloom, the new lieutenant governor who is a newspaper man. More than 250 visiting newspaper men have accepted invitations to be present. Admission will be by card. Speech-making will be permitted by Toastmaster Sandles until Governor Cox arrives. Then the smoker will be turned into a gridiron affair.

The Press smoker will conclude the day's activities and the governor will leave there to retire to his apartments in a downtown hotel and fortify himself with some sleep for the beginning of his duties as governor the following morning.

One of the first things on the program for the new governor is the delivery of his message to the legislature. He is expected to favor a short session and to devote the first few weeks of his administration to the carrying out of his program of legislation.

WALL STREET.

four hours before it had been placed in the hands of the news agencies, the following dispatch was sent out over the Dow Jones & Co. ticker: "The renewed selling of the market is due to reports received by brokers private wires from Washington to the effect that the administration will, in the near future, address to the belligerents some suggestions or proposals in regard to peace. Nothing definite is obtainable in administration circles."

"There is your proof of a leak," said Mr. Gardner. "Miracles don't go on the stock exchanges and Dow Jones & Co. don't deal in prophecies."

Mr. Gardner added that his attorney would be here next week and by submitting figures showing the fluctuations on the stock exchange on December 29, convince the committee that there had been a leak.

Washington, January 6.—In his statement to the committee Representative Gardner also said that while the Wall Street Journal on December 29 stated "there will be no peace manifesto issued by President Wilson" the New York Evening Sun on that date reported rumors and hints of the sending of such a note in the following terms:

"The Washington advices were harsh, these saying that President Wilson may address foreign powers on the peace proposals."

"Where did the Sun get this advance information?" asked Mr. Gardner.

"I think that I see indications of a leak. But the absolutely definite, aside watermark of a leak is contained in the ticker record of Dow Jones & Co."

"The beginning of the downward tendency in the stock market is first apparent between 12:45 and 1:45 of December 19. United States Steel which opened at 10 o'clock at 113 1-4 and rose as high as 116 1-8, got as low as 109 3-4 and closed at 112. "On December 29, opening at 112 it continued its downward course, closing at 108. Then came the publication of the note.

"On December 21, it opened at 104 1-2, showed an upward tendency until almost noon, then fell, touching its lowest point at 100 1-8 and closing at 101.

"My counsel, Judge Wm. M. K. O'Leary, of New York, will present to you a complete comparison of the course of prices on the New York stock exchange side by side with a statement of the news and rumors from Washington. This comparison presents a chain of events which beyond peradventure doubt proves the existence of a leak."

"If you find a prima facie case that there was a leak you cannot take the position that you will do nothing at all about it until some one informs you as to the names of those who profited by the leak or the names of those responsible for the leak."

"It seems to me that the right way to go about the matter is to find out from the president who he talked this peace note over with and then summon them and find out whether there was any way in which they might inadvertently have let the cat out of the bag. Next I should get a list of those employees of the White House and the state department and of our embassies abroad who handled this particular peace note. I think you will find that list quite formidable in length."

"Have you any evidence that would connect anyone at the White House with the leak?" asked Chairman Harrison.

"None whatever," said Mr. Gardner. "I have nothing but anonymous statements and letters which are worth nothing as evidence."

"Have you any evidence that would connect anyone at the state department?"

"No, nor anyone else," Gardner replied.

"I have no evidence that I consider worth the paper it's written on."

"Have you heard," Representative Garrett asked Mr. Gardner, "of any other than Bernard Baruch being reported to have profited by this so-called leak?"

"No," Mr. Gardner replied, "but I have seen an initiated statement saying that he and four others are supposed to have profited."

A motion by Representative Chipfield to order the local managers of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies to bring all messages sent to the Wall Street Journal and Financial America between Dec. 10 and Dec. 23 was adopted.

Representative Gardner said he absolved Secretary Lansing and Secretary Tumulty of all suspicion.

"I believe the president, the secretary of state and Mr. Tumulty are above suspicion," he said.

Representative Campbell, Republican, said there was no disposition on the part of the Republican minority to make political capital in this matter but that he considered it deplorable that there was an apparent attempt to "shield" anyone in the executive departments of the government.

Mr. Harrison, Democrat, objected to the suggestion that a New York "leak" came from the government departments and insisted the leak was through representatives of the Wall Street Journal and Financial America. He related how Secretary Lansing conferring with newspaper correspondents on December 20 had told them in confidence that a note to be published later had been sent to Europe and that the majority had respected the confidence.

"The other newspaper men kept faith," he said, "but it appears that the representatives of the Wall Street Journal and Financial America did not and it went out over the ticker and the market broke."

Chairman Henry said Secretary Tumulty had told him he wanted to appear and Representative Harrison said he had talked with Secretary Lansing and that the secretary "expressed a very great desire to come before the committee."

"Mr. Tumulty said to me," said Mr. Henry, "that he would be glad to come and appear before the committee. Neither Secretary Lansing nor Mr. Tumulty has been asked to come."

Representative Campbell suggested that the "unfortunate circumstances that have followed each other in quick sequence" would make it best for both Mr. Lansing and Mr. Tumulty to appear before the committee as early as possible.

The committee then went into executive session.

Toe Hold Wins Both Falls From Kid Ross; Bowser Was 8 oz. Lighter Than Opponent

Fifty-three minutes of actual wrestling time was sufficient for Paul Bowser to show his superiority over Kid Ross, Billy Schoeber's "unknown" last night when the two men met at the Auditorium at 158 pounds. The Newark title-holder won both falls by use of the toe hold. Both men showed the result of training to make the middle-weight limit, neither man being as fast as when they appeared on the same mat nearly two months ago.

The match was witnessed by the smallest number of paid admissions, which has greeted the Newark wrestler since his premier was here four months ago. However, there was a large crowd of spectators present. No less than seven champions and near champions were in the house. They included Ed Conley, Bull Montana, John Kilonis, Archie Parker, Billy Schoeber, Kid Ross and Paul Bowser. All of these men except Parker have appeared here as opponents to Bowser and Kilonis is the only one of the batch who holds a victory over the Newark man. Each was introduced to the audience in turn while the principals in the main event were dressing for the preliminary to weighing in before the audience. Most of them are enroute to Detroit to attend a wrestling tournament.

Bowser won the first fall from Ross by use of the toe hold. It came after 38 1-2 minutes of wrestling. Several times, Ross punished Bowser with a variation of the toe hold and also worried the Newark man with the arm lock on the head and with his leg work. However, Bowser was in danger at no stage of the match. Several times the Newark man threatened to "step over" with the Geth favorite, only to have the Hoosier twist himself free. However, the local title holder finally got the favorite hold from which the challenger could not free himself and he took the count.

In the period of rest between falls, Bowser did not leave the mat but sat in his corner while Ross had a conference with his sponsor, Billy Schoeber, in Ross' dressing room. It was noted that Schoeber did not occupy Ross' corner when the gladiators returned to the padded square for the final argument. Schoeber's remark when questioned about it was "let him do the best he can." Throughout the first struggle, Schoeber coached Ross and the latter looked to his corner for instructions many times when he was not occupied with other more important matters. His desertion caused much comment.

Both men showed a little more zinger after the ten-minute rest. Both were inclined to "rough it" more, but, as during the first struggle, Ross was on the defensive most of the time. He seemed to have lost some of the cunning he displayed on his former appearance.

Ten minutes after the wrestlers started their second stanza, Bowser secured the toe hold but it was not well placed and Ross' freshness, which followed his rest aided him in enduring the punishment while he struggled continuously to escape from the torture. He succeeded. The men then struggled five minutes longer and Bowser secured the hold which Ross could not break and the match was over.

Ross made no statement. Schoeber, his sponsor, criticised the Newark man for using the toe hold in both falls, declaring that he thought the local athlete should have used other methods for at least one fall.

Bowser was eight ounces lighter than his opponent, weighing 156 3-4 pounds on the stage. Ross weighed 157 1-4. The mat togs of both men were weighed a few minutes before the men dressed. Bowser's weighed 3 1-4 pounds and Ross' 3 3-4.

Three preliminaries preceded the main go. Art Sken 117 and Frank Nutter 120, went to a six minute limit without a fall. One of the men had an ugly arm lock on his opponent when time was called.

Leslie Fishbaugh and his uncle, John Fishbaugh put on a brief farce, Leslie winning two falls in fifteen seconds each. After the first fall, Uncle John expressed himself as not being satisfied and just to show Uncle that it had not been an accident, Leslie pinned his shoulders down again in the same number of seconds.

Doc. Roller gets the blame for the small attendance at the match last night. Bowser believes that Roller's appearance here next week, had much to do with the falling off in attendance, coupled with his defeat by John Kilonis last week. When Bowser indicated that he might in the near future take on Kilonis again, there were many cries from the crowd to stage the match here. Such a match is among the future probabilities.

HEARTH RUG WILL SUIT BOWSER FOR NEXT KILONIS BOUT

"I am willing to meet Kilonis anywhere in the United States or Lancaster, on any kind of a mat 6 feet square or larger, and under any conditions," was the word Paul Bowser passed out to Newark wrestling fans last night after he had replied to a challenge issued by Billy Schoeber, following Bowser's defeat of Schoeber's protegee. Replying to Schoeber's challenge, which included the proviso that the Newark man make the 158 pound limit, Bowser said he would decide upon that later. He intimated that he had several other surprises to spring before he could definitely dispose of the Indianapolis man's challenge. Bowser indicated by his words last night that he was not the least bit terrorized by the chance victory of Kilonis a week ago. Kilonis himself probably would admit, if questioned by a competent cross-examiner, that the match might have resulted otherwise but for the fortunate "slam" with which he won it.

"Y" ATHLETES MAKE GOOD SHOWING IN INDOOR EVENTS.

The past two months have seen some interesting contests staged on the Y. M. C. A. gym floor. Each Saturday evening for nine weeks a special contest was carried out and the member winning the largest number of points in the nine events was to be awarded a medal. Points were given for first, second, and third places. When the points were totaled it was found that N. W. Stevens of the senior class was the winner. Although Stevens took only two firsts he managed to secure at least a second or third place in almost every contest. The following records were made during these contests:

Standing high jump—5 feet, R. L. DeWitt.

AUDITORIUM.

Mutt and Jeff's Wedding. Grand opera was succeeded by comic opera, and comic opera by musical comedy. Legitimate drama gave way to farce comedy, dramatic, melo-dramatic, travel and educational motion pictures are falling prey to the ravages of alleged comedy pictures. The answer? The people want to laugh, first, last and all the time. This has been the nucleus of Gus Hill's success. He has always aimed to make the public laugh. Therefore it is not to be wondered at that Mutt and Jeff holds the undisputed record of financial and popular success of recent theatrical history. Laughter is the most popular sensation on earth. Mutt and Jeff was conceived for philanthropic purposes; to cheer mankind and to make them forget their real or imaginary troubles. In which quest these two eccentric near human characters have been eminently successful. Gus Hill has selected a company of titty capable performers to support the two comedians who are physically fitted to depict Bud Fisher's own ideas and has made Mutt and Jeff's Wedding one of the biggest and most important comedy productions of the current season.

Mutt and Jeff's Wedding comes to the Auditorium today.

Sunday's Program.

The Auditorium tomorrow offers one of the best picture programs of the season in "The Half Breed," the Triangle Fine Arts masterplay with Douglas Fairbanks. This photoplay, selected from Bret Harte's famous story, is replete with sensational scenes, clever comedy, love and pathos. Mr. Fairbanks as The Half Breed, is seen in one of the best parts of his picture career and he is sure to win many new friends by his performance in this wonderful feature. As an extra added feature, Ora Carew, the international comedienne will be seen in that laughable two-reel Keystone comedy "A La Cabaret." You all know what the Keystone comedy wins—the best ever and if it is to laugh, be sure and see the Auditorium program tomorrow. The showings start at 1 p. m. and are continuous throughout the supper hour until 11 p. m. Special music has been arranged by Prof. Guy Kisher and his clever assistants.

"The Lady Buccaneers," one of the greatest successes in musical comedy, will be at the Auditorium theatre Monday with lots of new dances and a number of original songs. Not only has "The Lady Buccaneers" a piquant plot in "Spending A Million" but lots of laughs and delightful whistly tunes as well. The interpreting company is individually and collectively a capable one, therefore exceptionally fine comedy work may be expected of Frederick Hackett, the Celtic wit. Will H. Hall, Hebrew delineator, William Hains, juvenile actor, Dick Hahn, a tramp, and Mr. Claude Kelly, eccentric comedian. The leading female roles will be portrayed by Miss Flossie McCloud, Flo Owen and Elizabeth Peyton, a quartette of voice, beauty and agility, all bedecked in silks and smiles. The chorus of Four and Twenty are all young, and of course pretty or they would not be members of the "Buccaneers."

Several novel features are promised by the management, one is named "Blanch et Noir," a series of dancing poses in daring attire, another is Mermaidia and her diving beauties, whose aquatic performance is as graceful and captivating as that of the Mermaidia of Mythology. As usual ladies will get the benefit of bargain prices at the matinee next Monday. Seats now selling.

Equitable Little Marguerite Clark is the star of the Famous Players adaptation of the celebrated fairy tale "Snow White" which is the Paramount Picture at the Alhambra theatre. Having starred in the stage adaptation of the story under the personal direction of Winthrop Ames at the Little Theatre, Miss Clark will undoubtedly prove irresistible in the motion picture version of the beloved tale. Director J. Searle Dawley, who produced the picture, has used the same costumes which created such favorable comment when they were worn in the stage play.

ESTABLISHED IN 1920.

How to Get Rid of "Pork."
Economy has never been much of a vote getting issue. The people angrily denounce extravagant appropriations. At the same time they clamorously demand extravagance in their own districts. Congressmen know perfectly well that a big public building in their own district will bring them more votes than they will lose by voting for a log rolling pork measure.

Political platforms all denounce extravagance. Then whichever party goes in proceeds to increase the appropriations, the previous size of which they attacked. No wonder the weary voter regards party platform as merely the modern form of high class fiction.

Of course it is universally admitted that half of the public building bill and half of the river and harbor bill is pork, that the thing is extravagant, full of propositions and sound on a business basis. But it will never be stopped until it becomes politically dangerous for Congressmen to back these bills. Now it is politically dangerous for them not to scramble for their own share.

For this reason Congressman W. A. Ashbrook stands out fearlessly and in committee against the general appropriations bill passed at the last session of congress.

He fought its extravagant provisions, and useless expenditures provided for, but he failed to prevent its passage, because he was alone. His position upon the proposed legislation however, was one that attracted the attention of the entire country, and may go far toward awakening the public mind to this annual "Candidates for the commission waste, with the result that Congressmen will be made to realize that their constituents do not approve it, and prefer to have representatives in Washington who exercise the same judgment and care in the expenditure of public funds that they do of their own."

The people should be made to realize that one item in the high cost of living is the high cost of government. As long as the government will incur an interest and expense bill of $5,000 on public buildings where rented quarters of $1,000 would do perfectly well, the tax payers must foot the bill.

If the American people do not want their money thrown away they should condemn waste wherever they see it. They should punish it in their home town just as severely as they condemn it at a distance. If a project is uneconomically unsound, the business men of the locality fit, but is impressing non-combatants into the service. That is horrible enough, but is it excuse for Great Britain's resorting to similar measures? It will be explained in justification of the English, no doubt, that the Germans whom they compel to till their fields will be employed only to supply the civil population. But that will not satisfy those who stickle for respect for the law. It was Great Britain that enunciated the doctrine there are no non-combatants in Germany; she had to do so in order in any way to justify her blockade which forbade shipments of foodstuffs into the Kaiser's domain. Since then it has been proclaimed that the war has gone beyond a conflict between governments and is a war between peoples, which puts every person in every belligerent country on the plane of a combatant. The war measures of the several countries, by which every resource of each is mobilized for the public benefit in making war proves the common acceptance of this view, and it requires very little stretching to make it cover almost any violation of international law that the distressed governments may feel constrained to enter upon. Thus Germany satisfies its conscience with regard to its treatment of the Belgians, and England now eases its conscience by making the German prisoners work for their keep.

If there is a moral to be drawn from the situation it seems to be that it is unwise for neutrals to let their sympathies carry them to the lengths of the bitter denunciations that have been heaped upon the Germans until it is known that the other side may not resort to "outrages" in violation of international law from like motives of self-preservation.

The Dog.
The one absolutely unselfish friend, that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert he remains. When riches take wings, and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens.—Senator Vest.

The New Coins.
(New York World.)
Any change in the coinage is likely at first to meet with more or less objection merely because it is a change. But the appearance of the new half-dollars, following the new dime, should soon reconcile grumblers who have resented the efforts of the United States mint authorities to produce something different in the fractional currency. The designs have the merit of being both simple and artistic, and are a distinct improvement in that respect on the pieces so long in use.

It is easy to say that any coin is good enough so long as the value is recognized at a glance. That is to give sole consideration to the bare fact of utility. But objects that pass so constantly in general circulation as the smaller coins should be rightfully made attractive to the eye. Every government, in its own way, strives to reach that end, as a matter of pride. Otherwise it would be enough to stamp circles of copper, nickel, silver and gold with numerals, and let it go at that.

This time the United States mint has succeeded, with the help of the designer, in turning out new silver coins which far surpass in beauty those which they replace. That is justification enough, and in this case exceptionally so because some of the other issues in recent years did not deserve unqualified approval.

No Non-Combatants.
(Pittsburgh Gazette Times.)
In a "special cable to the Mail and Empire from the London Times the Toronto (Canada) paper reports some of the social changes that became effective in England with the New Year in conformity with the new war code. We read:

The Board of Agriculture is organizing schemes to increase the home-grown food supplies. It is understood that 10,000 German prisoners are available to work the land.

That seems reasonable and would call for no comment but for the outcry that has been raised over Germany's forcing Belgians into "slavery" and the appeals that have been made to international law in support of the demand that it be stopped. Under the rules of war to work in the production of anything that may be helpful to their captors' prosecution of the war, Germany not only is requiring Belgians to work for its military bene-

PURE BLOOD MAKES HEALTHY PEOPLE
Hood's Sarsaparilla surely and effectively removes scrofula, boils and other blood diseases because it drives out of the blood all the humors that cause these diseases. They cannot be successfully treated in any other way. External applications for their removal have proven almost useless, because they cannot drive out the impurities that are in the blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure rich blood, perfects the digestion, and builds up the whole system. The skin becomes smooth, clean and healthy. This great blood remedy has stood the test of forty years. Insist on having Hood's, for nothing else acts like it. There is no real substitute. Get it today. Sold by druggist.—Advertisement.

Departure of the Gas.
(Ohio State Journal.)
The experts say the natural gas will run out in 25 years. A great many other things may happen in that time. There is certain to be some invention that will provide light, heat and power before then. And it will not be coal, either. L. H. and P. are simply a vibration of varied intensity and it all comes from the sun. Before the 25 years are up, some immaculate genius, like the Cleveland professor, who the other day made us see sound, is going to seize those solar vibrations and put them in some concentrated form, so that they can be discharged to meet the needs. These vibrations may come by the circuitous water power route or through the more direct electrical channel, but they are going to come. In the meantime, while the quarter of a century rolls around, let us enjoy the good old gas, and fry our oysters and boil our cabbage with it till the day of its tearful departure.

There's one thing which may be said to the everlasting credit of Mr. Hughes. As the months pass he does mighty little explaining.—Marion Star.

Freight cars and locomotives cost more than twice as much as they did in 1890. Fifteen years ago it cost less than half a cent to haul a car a single mile. It costs over eight-tenths of a cent now. The cost of railway transportation must of necessity go up; the cost of motor vehicle transportation must go down as roads are improved.—January McClure's.

She—Queen nothing! Queens can't pick their husbands. I can—and believe me, I'm some picker.—Judge.

Hard on the Lions.
The Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon's keen wit was always based on sterling common sense. One day he remarked to one of his sons:
"Can you tell me the reason why the lions didn't eat Daniel?"
"No, sir. Why was it?"
"Because the most of him was backbone and the rest was grit."—Tit-Bits.

In the Near Future.
"You take great care not to be run over."
"Got to. I'm afraid I'll forfeit my pedestrian's license."—Life.

PAUL DUFFAULT.
Not the least notable among Columbia's recent exclusive vocal acquisitions is Paul Duffault, Mr. Duffault, who is a French-Canadian, attained considerable fame when singing tenor roles with the old Manhattan Opera company, and is well known throughout the concert world. His enunciation is considered flawlessly perfect.

One of the most delightful bits of imagery ever written, Ware's "Boat Song" has been chosen for Mr. Duffault's initial record.
Mr. Duffault's voice drifts as dreamily and naturally with the tide of melody as the little dream boat is wafted across the sea of memory. And there is an inflection of pathos in his voice, deepened by the tender notes of harp and flute, that is very appealing, especially in the closing words:

"Oh, little boat, my dream is o'er,
I was a child and can dream no more."

Milady's Boudoir

French Methods Wrong For Us.
The American woman is the exact antipode of the French woman. In spite of the mixture of races in this country, the type of feminine beauty remains Anglo-Saxon.

The ideal of American beauty is a clear complexion, showing both pink and white, large eyes, more often blue than dark, and brown or light hair. American women of this generation, at least, are larger than French women, their features are more developed and suggest greater physical strength and vigor. It is impossible that such different types should profit by the same line of treatment.

The French woman does not care for natural effects because with her natural effects are not good. She

Suffered Several Years. PERUNA MADE ME WELL

Its My Standby for a Cold.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reuther, 1002 11th St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes: "I am pleased to endorse Peruna as a splendid medicine for catarrh and stomach trouble, from which I suffered for several years. I took it for several months, and at the end of that time found my health was restored and have felt splendidly ever since. I now take it when I contract a cold, and it soon rids the system of any catarrhal tendencies."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

What Ohio Club Women Are Doing

Mrs. Prentice E. Rood, Director of Press.

It was hoped by the director to have had a greeting from the president of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs appear in this column this week. Mrs. Zimmerman is enjoying a much needed rest at Ft. Smith, Ark. She writes most enthusiastically of the fine civic spirit found in that city.

The club women of Ohio will be glad to have a message from their loved leader, and may look forward to a letter which will appear in the near future.

The director extends to all her best wishes for a happy and successful year, with the earnest appeal for news from all the clubs that may be of interest to clubwomen.

Conservation.
The League of American Sportsmen has asked the co-operation of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs in its campaign on behalf of the song and insect eating birds against the English sparrow. Our state game commissioner has asked to assist in this crusade.

The National Audubon society suggests a plan to make use of the discarded Christmas trees, which will furnish feeding places for birds. Place the tree in a sheltered spot, and for your own entertainment, where it can be seen from a window. Take a pound of beef suet, half the meat of a coconut, half a pound of nuts, a quarter pound each of millet, and hemp seed. Put this mixture through your meat chopper and place over a fire until the suet is melted. While in this melted state distribute this about the tree. It will solidify immediately upon the twigs and fine leaves.

Keep the space under the tree swept clear of snow that the birds may get the seeds and crumbs which fall.

Akron's Invitation Accepted.

The very gracious invitation of the Akron clubwomen extended to the Ohio Federation to hold the next meeting of that organization in their city has been formally accepted by the board.

Council Meeting.

All clubwomen will be welcome at the council meeting of the General Federation to be held in New Orleans, April 10-12.

Dayton's New Club House.

The house furnishing committee of the Dayton Woman's club intends to make the interior of the new club house an education in artistic furnishings. A famous interior decorator of New York has been consulted.

Work of the Blind.

A letter from the Blind Commission to Mrs. Zimmerman expresses gratitude to her personally and to the Ohio clubwomen for their kindly efforts in behalf of the blind whose work has been sold so successfully during the year just ended. It has been the custom of Mrs. Zimmerman to open her home each year for this splendid activity.

Fight H. C. of C.

Dayton women propose to institute a campaign against high cost of living. Mrs. Etta M. Espy will deliver a series of lectures on the relative nutritive value of foods and kindred subjects.

A Source of Information.

The American Institute of Social Service, Astor Place, New York city, maintains a bureau of research and information on all social questions which it places at the service of all clubwomen absolutely without charge.

Main street, and Mrs. W. H. Crawford, 338 Central avenue, will be appreciated by the editor of the Ohio Woman, Columbus.

MRS. BOISSEVAIN, SUFFRAGE MARTYR, AN INSPIRATION FOR STATUE BY PAUL SWAN

Swan's statue of Mrs. Boissevain.

"Forward out of error,
Leave behind the night;
Forward through the darkness,
Forward into light."

The above little four-lined poem embodies the whole sentiment of this carefully moulded and most expressive statue of Mrs. Boissevain, the suffragist who died while fighting for the cause.

The figure is by Paul Swan, sculptor, painter and dancer. In his studio he has many works of art fashioned by his own hand—statues, paintings and other treasures. Paul Swan is known principally for his graceful dancing, but only a few people know him as an artist.

Many prominent suffragists who knew Mrs. Boissevain have expressed great interest in this symbolic statue. Some who have seen it claim for it the personification of Mrs. Boissevain's life and ideals.

does not care for the rosy cheeks that denote health for they only emphasize the heaviness of her skin on the contrary, she prefers a deep, artificial white that gives an even color to the face.

She again disregards the health standard by deliberately blackening the skin about the eyes in the endeavor to make the too small orbs more full and appealing.

The American skin needs a different treatment from the French skin; it is thinner, more delicate, more inclined to dry and take on premature wrinkles. It needs more creams to keep it in condition and cannot stand the heavy powders and liquid preparations that the French use in such abundance. It is no exaggeration to say that the average American complexion would be ruined before 30 if it was subjected to the same treatment that a French woman uses to advantage.

The same is true of the figure. The only reducing method in this country is the natural, scientific one of exercise and chance and reduction of food.

Our Boys and Girls

Ghost stories have worked irreparable harm to children for many generations. A child quickly comes to understand reason if reason is applied. He is keenly receptive to truths and to right ways of seeing things. He deserves to have mysteries explained him. He is entitled to legitimate fears when he is told he must not do certain things. The child should be taught not to be afraid. He should be given a chance to see that the darkness means, at the best, that there is no dark.

Every Day Etiquette

"When a woman makes a call on a man in his office, is it proper for him to escort her to the elevator?" asked Miss Particular.

"He should rise when she arises to leave but it is not necessary for him to go beyond the door with her," replied her brother.

You can have a wealth of Beautiful Hair

GOING! GOING!! GONE!!!

Nothing equals an aureole of beautiful hair as a frame for a pretty face. Without a background of nice hair a really pretty face frequently becomes plain but, with it, unattractive features assume life and beauty.

Every woman can increase her natural charm by using Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide makes hair beautiful. Dandruff, dandruff, the villain of the hair. Herpicide applied intelligently and regularly, checks this destruction of hair life and prevents the hair from falling out, giving it a snap and luster, a soft silky fluffiness which can be acquired in no other way.

Applications may be obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors.
It is guaranteed by The Herpicide Co. Sold everywhere.

What to Do for Itching Skins

There is usually immediate relief for skins itching, burning and disfigured by eczema, ringworm, or similar tormenting skin trouble, in a warm bath with resinol soap and a simple application
of resinol ointment.
The soothing, healing resinol medication stops itching
at once, and soon
clears away all trace of eruption, even in severe and stubborn cases, unless the trouble is due to some serious internal disorder.

You need never hesitate to use resinol. It is a doctor's prescription that has been used by other physicians for twenty years in the treatment of skin affections. It contains absolutely nothing that could injure the tenderest skin. Every druggist sells resinol ointment and resinol soap. Resinol Soap soothes tender skins and helps to make poor complexion clear, fresh and velvety, because it contains this resinol prescription.

HORSE TELLS OF MASTERS DEATH FROM APOPLEXY

When Andrew F. Parr, 54, a farmer, residing in Muskingum county, but who formerly lived near Newark, was stricken with apoplexy
while watering stock on his farm, Friday afternoon, the horse he was leading to the trough gave the

the horse without the master they investigated and found the dead body. Mr. Parr had been in the best of health.
He lived in Newton township for four years but formerly resided was a blacksmith at Lynchburg.

of this city; and Alfred A. Parr, of the home and also by three brothers and one sister, John, of near White Cottage, William of Lynchburg; Joseph, of Dayton, and Miss Mary Parr, of Highland county.

MISSIONARIES TELL OF WORK IN FOREIGN FIELD.

Educational in every feature, the missionary rally at the Central Church of Christ on Friday was well attended at every session. The speakers chosen to conduct the services were entertaining speakers men of ability and men who have accomplished much in their chosen field of missionary advancement.

The morning session opened with the pastor of the church, Rev. R.
E. Carmen, introducing the chairman of the convention, Rev. Mr.
Shaw, a missionary from China who replaced Rev. W. H. Hanna, of the Philippines who could not be present. The other missionaries were Rev. C. F. McCall of Japan and Rev.
C. P. Hedges of the Belgian Congo,
Central Africa.

Mr. Hedges told an interesting way of the conditions existing among the people with whom he is associated. Of their peculiar characteristics and of their folk lore
Mr. Shaw told of customs, especially the domestic customs of the Chinese,
and of what a wide field was offered for a greater work among this nation, which has accomplished so much in the past few years.

Rev. Mr. McCall outlined his work among the Japanese and all the lectures were illustrated with motion pictures and stereopticon views of the different people and their surroundings.

In the afternoon short talks were also given by Rev. Mr. Carter of Hebron, Rev. Mr. Wilson of Utica and Rev. E. E. Carmen of Newark.

At 5:30 o'clock a dinner was served all who wished to attend church, and following the dinner a number of talks pertaining to the foreign missionary work were given by the visitors. The congregations were large and much interest was manifested in the work being done and the result that has been accomplished.

Writing Made Easy.

Steadily the roads that lead to success in literature are being made easier. A good many people who would like to write fiction, but have shrunk
from the labor of finding equivalents for "said," will welcome a list of substitutes for the necessary little word published in the Boston Writer. There are no less than 380 fairly satisfactory variations, from "acceded" to "jowed."
The pisoner at the bar no longer need say that he is innocent. He can babble it or bawl it or blurt it or breathe it, to use but one letter of the alphabet. The vindictive district attorney can bark his questions, the lawyer for the defense can boom his objections, the spectators may either bristle their indignant protest or blubber their sympathy. But the merit of such a list is not simply that it facilitates the management of dialogue. A thorough study of the 385 substitutes for "said" will easily suggest the plot and the characterization that must precede dialogue. The letter C in itself is a compendium of plot and a gallery of portraits. Given somebody who cackles, another who chuckles, another who coos, another who croons, another who challenges, another who confesses and minor characters who cry, croak, commune and cut in, and it is plain that we have a scenario almost ready made.—New York Post.

Wonderful Carving.

Dr. Peter Oliver, who lived in England during the early part of the eighteenth century, tells of seeing a carved cherry stone which would be a wonder even in this age of fine tools and fine workmanship. The stone was one from a common cherry, and upon it were carved the heads of 124 popes, kings, queens, emperors, saints, etc.
Small as they must necessarily have been, it is announced on the authority of Professor Oliver that with a good glass the heads of the popes and kings could readily be distinguished from those of the queens and saints by their miters and crowns. The gentleman who brought this little wonder to England purchased it in Prussia, allowing the original owner £5,000 for his treasure. Think of it—£25,000 for a cherry seed!

Something in This.

"You women are always spending money for preparations to make yourselves better looking," growled Mr.
Twobble.

"I guess that's true, my dear," replied Mrs. Twobble sweetly.

"Now, you hardly ever see a man doing that."

"No, because ninety-nine out of a hundred realize that the quest of beauty is hopeless."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Old Time Prices.

When we are told that 100 years ago
a dollar bought ten dozen eggs or three bushels of potatoes we picture to ourselves a perfect state of society. Then we learn that the same dollar paid a man for two days' hard work on the farm, and we realize that the former generation had its own problems.—

Great Coal Seam.

Beneath the city of Sydney, New South Wales, is a vast coal seam which extends 100 miles north and the same distance in a westerly and southerly direction. The seam varies from four to thirty feet, and the depth runs from the surface outcrop to 2,000 feet deep.

More Advanced.

Clerk—No, sir, but here is "Seven ledo Blade.

gaged to a dentist. Flo—Well, isn't he an artist? He draws from real life.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Pimples.

The story of pimples and how not to have them is a short one to relate, but to put into practice and accomplish results is quite another story. It is difficult, first, because people who have pimples want to get rid of them without paying the price of removing the cause. They want to get something for nothing and would rather spend sums of money to have them removed with nasty medicine. If it were possible, than go about it in the only natural and possible way. Another reason why it is difficult for most people to remove pimples is that it demands a change of not a few of their living habits—the eating of candies, meats and heavy foods without drinking sufficient water and taking plenty of exercise. In other words, they would rather eat candy and loll around with pimples than work hard,
get sweaty perhaps and keep the skin rubbed clean. Pimples have rightly been called inligestion bumps. They follow the eating of rich, heavy foods and sweets and are an indication of an inactive life plus an indulgent appetite.

Wise is the man who can lose his temper, and keep it to himself.

LOCAL WEATHER

The weather sharks missed the mark by 10 degrees in predicting a drop in temperature, according to results in this city. Promises of a temperature of 10 degrees above zero did not materialize though the mercury last night did drop to 26 degrees. A wet snow followed the rain late yesterday and the snow on the walks was frozen during the night, only to be thawed by the warm sunshine Saturday. The weather men say it shall have fair weather Sunday. The temperature will remain about the same. The drop in temperature brought relief to many families here, in the lowlands, who feared high waters, though there was little mena e from this source in this vicinity.
